

Criando personagem para animação 2D

André Souza da Silva

Qual a sua história?

- Quem é o personagem?
- Como ele se sente?
- O que ele está fazendo?
- Onde ele está?
- Quando se passa?

Simplificação

- Para qual mídia será o personagem?
- Inspiração no real

Exagero

- Se vale a pena fazer, aumente.
- Cuidado para não forçar demais

Pesquisa

- Criação moodboard.
- Cultura, origem do personagem.
- Anatomia.
- Paleta de cores que fazem sentido com o personagem.
- Formas de acordo com o interior do personagem

Pesquisa

- Não pule essa etapa, geralmente a primeira ideia é ruim.

CHEAT SHEET

HISTÓRIA É O QUE IMPORTA.

Início de partida para personagem:

- O desafio de design
- Arquétipo
- Ambiente
- Ferramentas que utiliza
- Momentos na história
- Complexidade do personagem

Variáveis a serem consideradas quando adaptar um personagem existente para uma nova mídia.

- Logline do personagem
- Ícone previamente existente
- Momento na história

Componentes básicos de um personagem

- Valorizar a forma e o design
- Material
- Distribuição dos detalhes/pontos focais ou peças centrais do design

E SÉRIO, NÃO ESQUEÇA QUE HISTÓRIA É O QUE IMPORTA.

QUADRADO

- Personalidade firme.
- Tendem a serem menos chamativos e empolgantes.
- Tédio e rigidez.
- Teimoso, forte e confiante

TRIÂNGULO

- Energia, empolgação e perigo.
- Sentimento de tensão e raiva.
- Força e confiança.
- Triângulos e ângulos agudos usados em vilões.

CUTENESS IS BASED ON THE BASIC PROPORTIONS OF A BABY AND THE EXPRESSIONS OF SHYNESS OR COYNESS.

THE EARS ARE SMALL IN RELATION TO ADULT SIZE.

THERE IS NO NECK; THE HEAD ATTACHES DIRECTLY TO THE BODY.

THE BODY IS PEAR-SHAPED AND ELONGATED.

THE BACK IS SWAYED; THE LINE CONTINUES UP THE BACK OF THE HEAD AND DOWN INTO THE FANNY.

THE FANNY PROTRUDES; IT NEVER BULGES, BUT FITS INTO THE LEG LINES AND IS BASE OF THE BODY.

THE HEAD IS LARGE IN RELATION TO THE BODY.

A HIGH FOREHEAD IS VERY IMPORTANT.

THE EYES ARE SPACED LOW ON THE HEAD; THEY ARE USUALLY LARGE AND WIDE-SET.

THE NOSE AND THE MOUTH ARE ALWAYS SMALL.

THE ARMS ARE SHORT - NEVER SKINNY - AND TAPER DOWN TO THE HAND AND TINY FINGERS.

THE TUMMY BULGES. THE CHARACTER SHOULD LOOK WELL-FED.

THE LEGS ARE SHORT AND FAT, AND THEY TAPER DOWN INTO SMALL FEET FOR THE TYPE.

Cor e valor

Vermelho

- Símbolo de amor, confiança, energia, força e poder.
- Usada para destacar certas áreas do personagem.

Amarelo

- Simboliza esperança, coragem, calor, energia e, em alguns casos, perigo.
- Alto nível de energia podendo criar um alto contraste.

Laranja

- Saúde e criatividade.
- Assim como o vermelho chama a atenção para um ponto em específico e pode tomar conta se usada em excesso.

Roxo

- Nobreza, criatividade, magia e mistério.
- Usado em roupas e na iluminação pode levar para um lugar místico.

Verde

- Natureza, crescimento, estabilidade, saúde, relaxamento e bem estar.
- Verdes claros podem criar harmonia .
- Verdes escuros representam inveja, doença e mistério.

Preto

- Cor versátil e forte que pode simbolizar poder, força, sofisticação, morte, noite, rebeldia, tristeza e mistério.
- Ajuda a criar um design forte e intenso. Útil para criar contraste com a roupa e acessórios

Azul

- Representa calma, responsabilidade e espiritualidade.
- Usado para representar tristeza, frieza ou depressão
- Dependendo do contexto e tom pode passar a sensação de esperança, força e magia.

Branco

- Pureza, esperança, saúde e limpeza.
- Evoca sentimentos de perdão, simplicidade e empatia.

Rick

"Wubbalubbadubdub! It's a Rick and Morty art book! Got my own *Rick and Mo(BURP)rt*y art book, son! Gonna take you- gonna go behind the scenes, gonna see some realllll cool shit, Morty. Stuff no one has seen from seasons 1 and 2. We're lifting back the curtains, Morty, people's minds might explode but that's not our problem. They need to see. Are you listening, Morty? We got our own (BURP) art boooooook!!"

Okay, so early on, like real early on, we're talking pre-pilot here—Justin Roiland (co-creator and voice of Rick and Morty) wanted both Rick's head and Morty's head to change in every single shot, like they did in his original Doc and Mharti short (page 206). So basically, any time the camera made a cut it would be a completely new, redrawn head. But Justin quickly learned doing the whole show like this would be impossible, and decided to stick with just one head going into the pilot. You can see his first crack at Rick's head below—but wait, bro, turn the page for more HEAD FACTS—

FINGERS SMALL, LIKE HANDS OF AN 8-YEAR OLD GIRL

"Wow, Rick, look at my big ol' butt in that drawing! I mean, it-it's like I pooped my pants or something. That's-I mean, that's not cool." Super early in production, we were still trying to lock down Morty's look. Which resulted in shots of Morty like this—with his shirt all belled out, or his ass all huge. Justin drew this bad boy so that everyone on the show had a master body guide. You know, to make sure Morty's hands always looked like an eight-year-old girl's.

STARBUKNS INDUSTRIES

"You see, Morty? This- t-t-t-this is what happens when you try to draw the head of a genius. Those bureaucratic sheep can't handle it, Morty! Their hands are too weak!" So we made the pilot with just one Rick head, right? But here's the thing, dawg. Inconsistencies kept popping up. So Justin whipped up this handy little guide to help the artists come up with a consistent look for Rick. One of the big pointers: making sure Rick's head is always pill shaped and Morty's head is always round—two shapes that are iconic for TV duos (like Bert and Ernie). Iconic!

Twilight Sparkle

TWILIGHT SPARKLE is the unofficial leader of the Mane Six, and the hero of My Little Pony: The Movie. She is a tireless learner, a patient friend, an obsessive organizer, and an avid reader. As the Princess of Friendship, it's Twilight's duty to make sure everypony feels like they belong by building and nurturing friendships all over Equestria. When the Storm King threatens to steal the magic from the Ponies, Twilight Sparkle's leadership skills, confidence, and even her friendships will be pushed to the limit.

Flash Build Version

Twilight's color breakdown
 Art by Rebecca Dart

For the feature film, the characters became more volumetric overall, meaning they have more of a roundness and softness for the 360° world of Equestria and beyond that we created for the movie.

Ears: Giving the ears more depth allows for more expression, and we could add a bit of blush inside the ears as well to give them even more life.

Lines: The feature Ponies have thinner lines as well as more color changes in their outline. One thing we could not do for technical reasons was have a gradient along the length of their lines, so lines had to be solid colors. There were also subtle changes made as the characters went through builds; for instance, the interior lines of Twilight's tail where it is cut off had to be removed to make the rig lighter for animation. This actually happened to be more visually appealing, once again proving the old artists' adage that "less is more."

Color: For the Ponies we used the original RBGs from the Flash files to keep their colors true to the show; however, we were able to add shadows and the hoof shape under the feet. Another aspect that was changed from the television series was the orange tongue. For the film we took advantage of a chance to make it a more natural pink color.

This was an early pass from when we were trying to figure out what a feature film version of the Mane Six would look like. We realized pretty quickly that we had to pull way back from these and simplify their designs.

— ANGELA AN, CONCEPT DESIGNER

For the movie we could give Rainbow Dash's mane and tail colored outlines versus the blue outline from the television show. We could also step up her wing design.
